VITA

Bernhard Fink was a farmer, salesman and head of a sales team before he decided to work for a management and technology consulting firm as consultant and project manager. He has gained international project experience in IT, telecom and banking projects while finishing a Master's degree in Marketing & Sales and General Management.

In this role, and later as an independent consultant and project manager, he has worked in large firms and experienced how different those organizations are. And, at the same time, how much room for improvement in collaboration still exists.

Therefore, Bernhard Fink has increasingly dealt with agile methods of collaboration. Today he supports companies in agile transformations with consulting, coaching and training.

BERNHARD FINK SAYS

"In my previous projects and consultations, I've seen many different organizations from the inside. I've noticed how different companies work and how much room for improvement there is in leadership and cooperation. Therefore, I have set out to help in the cooperation of people. Because new work models fascinate me, I focus on agile methods and new procedural models.

When I'm not working or reading, I enjoy spending time with my family, meditating or walking."
