PETER LENDL SAYS

"I am fascinated by the richness and the variety you get while exchanging thoughts and experiences with people of different ages, cultures in different branches.

When I am working with people, I like to learn from them and support them – in further developing their skills and their ability to apply them in daily business. I also like to share my practical experience and enthusiasm with others.

My private interests are my family, hiking, travelling, dancing, playing golf, having a good dinner with a good glass of wine and our friends."
